Poplar Grove Man-Hunt Surrounds Aged Robber

John Brown of Troy, Tenn. and Will Ingram of Illinois are one and the same person. But even a double name didn't help the robber who showed real determination in the Poplar Grove Community last Saturday near dawn. The aged would-be bandit was captured cold-bloodedly as he tried to hot foot an escape from a multiple-barreled man hunt that cornered him in a field in the community about ten thirty Sunday.

When captured the more than seventy-year-old Negro said that he was John Brown in Troy, Tenn. but that he was Will Ingram in Illinois. He will have to make up his mind about his Fulton County name when he appears before the grand jury during the September term of court which convenes on September 15.

Rev. R. B. Owen, pastor of the Poplar Grove Church told this story:

Saturday morning about two a. m., a man attempted to break into the Poplar Grove parsonage by cutting a screen door on the back porch. Failing to gain entrance into the house by the back door, he tried a window and then the front door. Bro. Owen, fired at the would be burglar but missed. In the fracas neighbors got a good look at the Negro man. On Sunday afternoon the Negro was again spotted in the neighborhood. Sheriff Garrison, his deputies and men in the community surrounded the area where the man was seen and closed in on him about ten thirty that night.

At a preliminary hearing held in Hickman, where he was taken after his capture, Brown, alias Ingram, said he had no real motive in the attempted break-in. He was charged with break-in and attempted robbery. His bond was set at $1,000 and was bound over to the action of the grand jury.

In a movie version of a man-hunt every able-bodied man in the Poplar Grove community manned guns to surround a field where Brown-Ingram was seen. Steadily they closed in and nabbed him without any resistance from him.

Highlands Residents Favor Annexation, Council Will Probably Decide Monday

Seventy-five out of ninety-eight queries to residents and property owners in Highlands were returned by deadline time Monday, indicating that there is a 2-to-one preference for annexation of the area to the City of Fulton.

Miss Martha Smith, Fulton City Clerk, told The News Wednesday that the complete tabulation received by September 1st (the deadline) at the City Hall showed 50 for annexation, 25 against. Twenty-three failed to reply at all, but even if all of these had voted "no", there would still be a majority preference by the area for annexation to the corporate limits of Fulton.

Just what the effects of this poll will mean to the Fulton City Council will not be known until after the regular council meeting next Monday night, at which time the question of Highlands annexation is sure to be on the agenda.

With an overhead water tower to be constructed, water lines in the area to be looped and extended, and a complete sewer system to be installed, plus such other items as street lights and lesser municipal services, it is felt that

Accent Is On Sports, Studies As Fulton Schools Open With Large Enrollment

Schools opened in the Fulton area on Tuesday and class room studies are well on their way.

At the Fulton Independent School District an integrated class rooms were assembled in an orderly and harmonious manner with 20 Negro students in attendance. With the purchase of school books, class assignments and class room work begun in earnest students in the area are looking forward to extra-curricular activities and an interesting program of sports.

And at Fulton High the first game of the season will be held when Fulton meets Crittenden County at Memorial Stadium. Coach Charlie Thomas is enthusiastic about the prospects for this season and practice seasons have been in full swing afternoon and evenings for several weeks.

Something new will greet local football fans when they attend routine with classes having started on August 25. First football game of the season for South Fulton is also this Friday when the Red Devils meet the Ridgley, Tenn. team on Ridgley's home ground. Ridgley plays Fulton in Fulton on September 26.

Fulton's integrated school program adds another school to the more than three-fourths of Kentucky's schools that have integrated their class rooms. Other schools in the area that have integrated class rooms are Murray, Mayfield and Tighman at Paducah.

While the metropolitan news sources had their attention focused on Fulton on Tuesday there was no story to be reported from this city except that the integration move was orderly and harmonious. Students and teachers went about their class room activities in their normal manner and the accent was on school work with a hard year of studies ahead.

One hundred and eighty one students were enrolled at Fulton High School. According to principal Mansfield Martin this tops the enrollment at the beginning of school last year by one. Out of this number there were seven negro boys and 13 negro girls.

The breakdown in classes for the newly integrated students was as follows: Freshmen, 2 boys and 4 girls; sophomores, 4 boys and 3 girls; Junior, 1 boy and 2 girls and Senior, four girls.

Over in Carr Institute and enrollment of 292 students was recorded. This is a somewhat larger number than enrolled at the beginning of school last year.

Council Plans For Another Sale Of The Ferry-Morse Revenue Bonds

Until the $1,000,000 Ferry-Morse bond issue of the City of Fulton is sold, there can be no beginning on the construction of the giant building in Highlands . . . and the bonds haven't been sold yet, The News was advised Wednesday.

An effort was made to sell the bonds a week or so ago, but a buyer who had planned to take the entire stock backed out at the last minute and the sale will have to be organized all over again.

Final plans and preparations for the next sale were to have been made by the Fulton City Attorney and Council at a special meeting last night, following return of the City attorney from a trip to Detroit this week.

The bond sale is being handled by The Kentucky Company of Louisville.

Serious Injury Averted When 3 Cars Collide

Serious injury was narrowly averted Tuesday night when three cars collided at the Taylor Street approach to the overhead bridge on West State Line.

The automobile owned by Former Mayor Bill Browning was seriously damaged on the right rear and the left front, while the two other cars that figured in the accident were only slightly damaged.

Police Chief Rex Ruddle gave this version of the story:

Mr. Browning, traveling east on West State Line made a left turn on Taylor Street toward the football stadium. Roland Edward Washburn of Memphis was traveling west, towing another car, when the Washburn car hit the right rear end of the Browning car.

The Browning car, as a result of the impact with the Washburn car sideswiped a car driven by Doc Adams, who was waiting on Taylor Street to make a turn, westward on West State Line. The car, being towed by Washburn made a complete jack-knife when the collision occurred.

No charges had been filed against the drivers of the cars.

Note Book

Within the past few weeks I have been thinking that if more people had the courage to express their opinions in print that our "Letters to the Editor" column would be the best read section of the paper. And moreover Fulton would see a lot of things accomplished that people want accomplished.

But it is sad to note that people who have controversial opinions invariably are afraid to sign their name to their letters and thereby their opinions and their views are filed along with the other rubbage we get in the mail.

It's always been a mystery, and yet a source of amusement to talk with people who say: "Why don't you write a hot editorial about such and such a subject." And lots of time when we don't get some folks right mad at us. You see, a lot of people don't realize that an editor cannot agree with everybody's views, yet when an editor does write an editorial as he or she sees it, and it meets with the disapproval of readers, that editor is a you know what.

A lot of people don't much care about an editor being an also-ran in a popularity poll, but they are mighty cautious about their own position, hence they don't write letters to the editors about their personal opinions.

To-wit: Last week before we started on the tour to take a good look around Fulton and South Fulton regarding improvements that had been made and those that had to be made, we read a letter from a very disgruntled citizen who took a dim view of the "meddling" on the part of local citi-

This Is Child Safety Week

September 2-8 is National Child Safety Week. In the light of alarming rises in the accident rate in recent years—particularly among children—families throughout the nation should be giving more thought to ways of reducing hazards in and around the home.

Home accidents cause one death every eighteen minutes, a non-fatal injury every thirteen seconds. Among the nation's more than 17,000,000 children under six years of age, accidents cause more deaths than disease! According to medical and insurance experts simple safety practices at home could sharply reduce the number of child accidents.

1. Kitchen accidents are most prevalent. Keep knives and other sharp instruments in a rack or neatly aligned in a drawer. Use non-flammable liquids for kitchen cleaning. Never permit a child to be alone near a refrigerator or freezer; a dozen or more youngsters each year crawl into refrigerators and die from mechanical suffocation.

2. Keep all poisonous medicines properly labeled, out of reach of prying hands. Kerosene and other flammables should also be stored out of harm's way.

3. Falls can be reduced, even with active youngsters, by avoiding use of loose rugs, by not permitting toys to be strewn on floors, walks and lawns, and by keeping stairways clear and well-lighted. Never over-polish floors—the shine isn't worth an accident to your child.

4. If your child should hurt himself, above all don't panic. Keep a reputable first aid guide and a good first aid kit handy. Knowing how to administer the correct first aid treatment before your doctor arrives will minimize the effects of the injury, and may even save your child's life.

September, 1958 Is "Looking Up"

Only once in a while does a farmer get a two-way break—the combination of a good season and fair prices—but that seems to be the case on most Kentucky farms this year. With few exceptions growing conditions in the state in 1958 have been excellent—one of the best corn crops on record, wonderful pastures, excellent small grain and a good, although spotty, crop of tobacco. Coupled with this are the favorable prices of hogs and cattle, and prospects for tobacco prices are as good or better than those of recent years.

There are a few hardships cases, such as in the river bottoms where some thousands of acres of corn and soybeans have been destroyed by late floods and some excessive water on poorly drained upland soils, but, as a rule, most farmers and country bankers are feeling optimistic at this time.

What's good for agriculture is good for the cities too. In 1957 agriculture spent $15 billion dollars for industrial products and there is a large backlog of unfilled farm needs and wants which await only the income with which to buy. A few more seasons such as this would be a great stimulus for Kentucky's economy.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Guilt, Unhappiness And Modern Man

By Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

ON A FOGGY day in San Francisco this year, two priests grabbed the wrists of a man about to jump from a bridge. They saved him from a tragic end. But thousands of "successful" suicides each year make us realize that unhappiness is not a stranger to our times. Why?

The principal reason for the unhappiness of modern man is his denial of personal guilt. By this denial he excludes not only forgiveness, but the peace that comes from a reconciliation with the God of Love.

NEVER DENY personal guilt. It has five serious effects in your soul: 1) It destroys character by eliminating responsibility and therefore freedom. 2) It makes forgiveness impossible by denying there is a sin to be forgiven. 3) It turns people into scandal-mongers and gossips, because it makes them project their own guilt to others to escape their uneasy consciences. 4) It leads to greater sin by making conscience less reproachful and virtue more distasteful. 5) Finally, denial of personal guilt leads to despair which develops into a positive fanaticism against religion and morality, which hatred is a sure sign of guilt.

THE WORST THING in the world is not sin, but the denial of sin—this is the unforgivable sin. If the blind deny they are blind, how shall they ever see?

Our Lord did not like the "nice" people who denied personal guilt. What moved Him to invective was not badness, but self-righteous goodness. We find no words of condemnation against Magdalene, who stumbled on the problem of sex, nor on the penitent thief, who found it difficult to respect possessions.

IT WAS AGAINST the Scribes and Pharisees who denied that they were responsible for their wrongs that He said: "Woe to you, hypocrites . . . blind guides . . . serpents . . . whited sepulchres, which outwardly appear to men beautiful but within are full of dead men's bones and of all filthiness."

He said that the harlots and the quislings would enter the Kingdom of Heaven before the self-righteous and the smug. He would not condemn those whom society condemned, but rather, those who had sinned and had not yet been found out, or refused to admit it.

TO BE A SINNER, is your distress, but to know it, is your hope. The "nasty" people are the convertible people, because they possess within themselves an emptiness, not like the Grand Canyon, but like a nest which can be filled. They have a hunger and a thirst for something outside themselves. This sense of sin in them does not beget a forlorn despair but a creative despair, knowing that only God can help them.

Be brave to confront yourself with yourself at all times, having trust in God. The greater the consciousness of your own misery, the greater will be your confidence in the goodness and mercy of God.

New Ky. Juvenile Driver Law Praised

Kentucky's new policy of trying young traffic offenders in regular traffic courts instead of juvenile courts has attracted praise from several sources.

A new law effective June 19 transferred trials of drivers under 18 to courts that regularly tried drivers over that age. Now the juveniles may be punished with fines and jail sentence for driving offenses. In juvenile courts they usually escaped with only a warning or an order to attend a safety lecture.

Favorable comments on the new Kentucky law were made at a recent meeting of juvenile court officials at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and at the Southeastern Regional Conference of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety at Miami.

Those attending in the afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. James Jones and children, Dale and David, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jones and children, Donna and Teresa, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alderdice and children, Debra and Randy. Each enjoyed the day and left for their home in late afternoon wishing for Mrs. Mathis many more happy returns of the day.

Colleges Seeking Students Unable To Pay Way

Most colleges now are actively hunting for youngsters with the ambition, but not the cash, to pay the skyrocketing cost of today's education.

"They need us and we need them," a dean told Frances V. Rummell, who reports on the new crop of working students in an article in the September Reader's Digest. Five out of every seven undergraduates now earn at least part of their expenses; one in seven pays his way in full. And year in, year out, the workers get better grades than non-workers. The working student is better motivated, college officials say. He learns how to budget his time.

To help such youngsters, most colleges now have efficient undergraduate employment bureaus. Arizona State College actually sends out academic scouts to show poor but promising youngsters how they can afford to study, with jobs and loans arranged by the college. Colgate gives scholarships only to boys willing to work part-time to close the gap between what they have and what they need.

There is more variety in undergraduate jobs today. A pre-medical student at the University of California in Berkeley does magic tricks for children's parties; another, pre-med, at Arizona State, gives blood-alcohol tests to suspected drunk drivers for the local police; a Southern Methodist student averaged $400 a year for three years, selling cemetery lots.

Employers are beginning to demand significant work experience of new graduates. Standard Oil of California is typical. It asks its applicants how much of their college expenses they earned, and what work they did. Several corporations provide jobs for undergraduates, tailoring the work hours to fit courses of study.

The Digest article, "Education While You Work," is condensed from the Sunday Supplement of the New York Herald Tribune.

Flying Club To Have Airshow

The Obion County Flying Club is having an airshow at Tom Stewart Airport near Union City on Sept. 21, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce, Civil Air Patrol, Boy Scouts, Key Club of Union City, and the civic clubs of Union City.

It is a general promotion in the interest of flying, the Union City airline facilities, and the airport itself.

The program is much broader in scope than any airshows previously given at Union City, or in the area, in this respect: they will not only have the usual acrobatics, but will also have a model flying exhibition, a glider soaring type exhibition, a static model show under cover, showing the progress of manned mechanical flight from the recognized start of 1906 through 1958.

Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

C. C. Vaughn of R-3, Kenton, Tenn. was re-elected as chairman of the Obion County ASC Committee at the recent annual convention of community ASC delegates, the County ASC office has announced. The convention was held in the County ASC Office on August 27, 1958.

Other officers re-elected were Marvel Seals of R-1, Union City, Tenn., vice-chairman, and Hoyt Griffin of R-4, Union City, Tenn. as the third regular member of the committee. First and second alternates chosen were Sterling Stone of R-1, Union City, Tenn., and Jesse Beal of Obion, Tenn.

Both regular and alternate members of the committee were elected for a one-year term of office, beginning September 1, 1958.

C. C. Vaughn, Chairman of the Obion County ASC Committee, reminded county farmers that the sign-up period for the 1959 Conservation Reserve opens August 27. "From then until September 19, the deadline date, we urge farmers to come in to the county ASC office and file requests for the establishment of maximum rates for their farms. This does not in any way imply an obligation on the part of the farmer to participate in the 1959 Conservation Reserve," Mr. Vaughn stated.

He said that filing a request for the information as to the farm maximum rates simply indicates an interest on the part of the farmer and helps him to make up his mind whether or not he wants to participate in the 1959 Conservation Reserve, and to what extent.

The sign-up in Obion County for the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank opened August 27 at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office in Union City, Chairman Vaughn announced today.

The first step in the sign-up is for the farmer who is interested in the program to come to the county office and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm.

At the same time, the farmer should bring with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing rates for his farm. The chief facts needed, Chairman Vaughn said, are acreages and yields of the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land use on the farm.

A series of 10 district meetings held for the purpose of acquainting county ASC Committeemen and members of their staff with provisions of the 1959 AC Program was completed August 6.

The 1959 Nation Agricultural Program has been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and authorization given to State and county committees to begin the development of State and county programs of 1959.

As a first step in this direction county ASC committees are authorized to put into effect the 1959 program to run concurrently with the 1958 program for the 5-month period, August 1-December 31, 1958.

By doing this a continuous program is provided without breaks as well as permitting each county to fully utilize available funds to achieve needed soil and water conservation measures on as many farms as possible.

C. C. Vaughn, Chairman, Obion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, emphasized that the aims of the 1959

Burnette Shows Jersey Champion

George Ely Burnette, a Fulton Jersey dairyman and student at the University of Louisville, again exhibited the grand champion female animal at the Purchase District Fair.

Young Burnette, his brother, father and cousin, has dominated the Jersey show for several years. Grand champion Jersey bull was exhibited by Foster Four-Star Farm of Mayfield.

Junior champion female honors went to an animal owned by Leving Thompson, Hazel Rt. 3. Livestock judging was completed late Thursday with the beef cattle show.

Tobacco Buyers Want Ripe Tobacco

To give growers of Dark Types of tobacco the benefit of leading buyers' views, the Dark Tobacco Quality Improvement Committee asked three important buyers to state their views on the subject of ripeness, and, surprisingly, they are unanimous in wanting ripe tobacco.

Mrs. John R. Dunn, head buyer for the Parodi Cigar Co., and a recognized authority on fine Dark tobaccos, says, "It is very important that tobacco should be ripe before cutting. No manufacturer likes green tobacco, and neither do any want over-ripe tobacco. The time for cutting is therefore a very important factor in the production of fine tobacco. Any farmer who is doubtful about when to cut his crop should consult a neighbor or one who produces fine tobacco from year to year.

Conservation Reserve program for 1959 are the same as those for past years. These are:

1. To reduce agricultural production, but at the same time protect the net incomes of farmers;
2. To retire cropland not needed at present and help to conserve soil, water, forestry, and wildlife;
3. To check an unwise shift of land diverted from "basic" crops to other cash crops.

Three UK County Agents Receive Recognition

Three county agricultural agents from Kentucky will receive Distinguished Service Awards along with agents from other states at the National Association of County Agricultural Agents meeting to be held in Seattle, Wash., Aug. 21 to Sept. 4.

They are J. W. Kidwell of Whitely county; Manuel B. Arnett of Pike County, and Jones R. Davie of Christian county. All have bachelor of science degrees in agriculture.

Success in assisting rural families in working out improved farming and community programs, thereby greatly increasing farm income, improving family living conditions and providing greater security for rural people, are outstanding results of the 12 years Mr. Davie has been county agent in Carlisle county, 1946-56, and Christian county, 1956 to the present time.

In Carlisle county, the number of grade-A dairy barns built in 10 years was increased from three to 70. He encouraged the building of small, efficient, elevated milking parlors, and the sale of fluid milk tripled. He helped organize an artificial breeding program, and encouraged the use of the cow and calf plan, the beef cattle population in the county increasing by more than 50 percent.

In Christian county, he organized the first freeder-calf sale in the area, assisted in finding new markets for grade-A milk, and organized crop improvement and strawberry marketing associations.

M. Davie is a brother of Turnie Davie, former Fulton County Sheriff.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

We believe that Dr. Bergen Evans will agree that "baby-sitting" is a new word added to the dictionary, exclusively for this generation. It is doubtful that our mothers and grandmothers ever knew of such a thing and perhaps would have been horrified at the thought. How different today!

Baby-sitting is not a phrase . . . it's a PHASE. Yep, a phase that dominates our work-a-day, our social pattern, even our leisure. But take hope, ye of baby-sitting bondage, there's a rumor going 'round that someday baby-sitters' grow up and even become baby-sitters themselves.

Such was our experience this week-end . . . and a startling one too! It happened like this.

Jim Burton, our fine little neighbor in the Highlands, who, it seems needed a baby-sitter himself just a few short months ago, has a baby-sitting job and his first experience is surely worth noting. Jim has a job as something of a bell-boy and handy man at the Kingsway Motel near us. And in such a position he found himself being called upon to care for an infant at the motel while the parents of the child took a short time off to go to a near-by restaurant.

Says Jim: "I was scared to death. The parents told me that the baby had been fed and would go to sleep soon, so there was no need to worry. They also said the baby had a fresh diaper, so I had nothing to worry about." But Jim looked at the matter entirely different.

Sure the baby played and cooed for a while, but soon says Jim, she started to whine. Jim made funny faces, shook a rattle, rocked the crib, to no avail. He called on Bob Engel when the baby got to yelling seriously and they called the parents. All the parents said was: "Give her a bottle." Jim did and the baby was quiet again. But says Jim every time she looked like she was going to make a sound I put that bottle in her mouth. It did the trick all right. But baby-sitting just isn't for Jim. He was scared to death.

And believe it or not a little fellow around our house (age 10) says he'd like to hire out for a sitter. And that's all right . . . but if he ever gets a job, we're in it again . . . get a sitter to watch the sitter.

And now for news around here and there. We thought we had JEAN ANN HYLAND all settled with an old friend of ours in Hyattsville, Md. where we thought Jean was going to teach music in the public schools there. Learned this week that Jean had a better offer in the schools of Peru, Indiana and has already assumed her duties. Jean Ann will also give private music lessons. And here again our "time marches on" department gets another jolt . . . seems no time at all that Gladys and Bob Hyland were looking around for baby-sitters for Jean Ann.

It was fun seeing HARRY FIELDS AND MONETTE DEZONIA visiting kith and kin and loads of friends in Fulton over the Labor Day week-end. These two nice people, like many another former Fultonian would rather visit in Fulton than at Buckingham Palace and what's more they get the kind of welcome usually accorded for royalty.

We had a nice talk with MARGARET HOMRA the other day and we wondered if she could give us a rough estimate of the number of birthday parties she has organized in her life-time. She wouldn't hazard a guess and we don't blame her. Anyway she added another even to her long list of birthday parties last Saturday when that sweet little Cindy Homra celebrated her eighth birthday. Margaret served a delicious fried chicken dinner to Cindy's guests on the lawn of the Country Club. And after the meal, of course there was birthday cake, and this one was baked in the shape of a figure "eight." Imagine!

PEARLEE AND HAPPY HOGAN AND LITTLE MISS DOTTY returned this week from a wonderful trip to one of the South's newest and most glamorous vacation spots right off the coast of Mobile, Ala. Happy gave us a most glowing account of their trip and many of the interesting events during their visit away from home. Happy Hogan, who never met a stranger in his life battled a thousand on this trip too. And what is more several times during the trip he encountered strangers who knew Happy's brother, Tim, and lots of other members of the Hogan family. On their way home the Hogans stopped over in McComb, Miss. to spend the night with Jimmy and Phyllis Hogan so that Happy could marvel at the amazing wonders of his little granddaughter, Cyrena.

CHARLES AND RUDEL MURPHY are visiting in Fulton with their folks, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Tucker, and with Charles' mother, Mrs. Gertrude Murphy.

Tis many returns of the day that we wish our old friend GUSIE BROWDER who Tuesday celebrated his 85th birthday. Mr. Gusie who now makes his home at the Haws Memorial Rest Home was taken to his home for this birthday celebration where he was surrounded by his family and friends. Here to share the day with him were his daughter, MRS. BILL MILNER AND HER HUSBAND from Overland, Missouri. Only thing that did not make the day a perfect one was that Gusie's brother, CHARLES BROWDER, of Duncan, Oklahoma could not be home with him . . . that is Charles was not here in person, for we know he was surely here in spirit.

Within the next several days area citizens will present two wonderful events when two outstanding medical men of these parts will observe their fiftieth anniversaries as doctors. The folks around Hickman will pay special homage to DR. J. C. MORRISON with a dinner at the Methodist Church on September 10. And Joy, Harry Barrett and Camille Stokes, urge that tickets to this event be secured at once because only 150 persons can be accommodated in the church basement where the appreciation dinner

Miss Agatha Bennett Becomes Bride Of Charles Russell Reynolds

Miss Agatha Bennett became the bride of Charles Russell Reynolds in a double-ring ceremony performed August 9 in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunter Bennett of Wingo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Reynolds of Earlington.

The Rev. Houston M. Suthard, minister of Wingo Baptist Church officiated at the wedding. The vows were exchanged before the fireplace decked with greenery. Baskets of white gladioli were placed at either side of the mantel. Elsewhere in the spacious living room arrangements of gladioli and roses were used.

Miss Carey Winslow presented the wedding music which included "O Promise Me" and "Always". The traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white lace over taffeta. Her short sleeved fitted packet with Peter Pan collar was fastened with a single rhinestone button. The full skirt was accented with a lace covered belt and rhinestone studded buckle. She will be held. And that's good advice, because if just the babies whom Dr. Morrison has delivered attend the dinner, there won't be another seat left in the church.

Then on Sunday September 7 the Cuba Baptist Church is sponsoring a program to honor Dr. M. W. PAGE for his 50 years of service to the community. All of Dr. Page's friends are asked to bring a basket lunch which will be served at one o'clock. And just as a little reminder to you, we think it would make both of these fine gentlemen mighty happy if your turned out to add your good wishes to their special parties.

The GILSON LATTA household was a bee-hive of activity this past week-end when FRANK BUTTERFIELD, JR. of Orlando, Florida dropped in with three of his Sigma Chi fraternity brothers. The boys had been to a fraternity meeting in Greencastle, Indiana and came to Fulton en route home for a visit with the Lattas. ANN LATTA also spent the week-end at home. Ann is now teaching at Idlewild School in Memphis and we hope she'll be able to make lots of week-end trips home. Frank's fraternity brothers have gone to their homes, but Frank is staying for a longer visit here.

Summer is officially over in Fulton and no surer indication can be had than when GEORGE HUDDLESTON leaves home to return to his position as organist in the beautiful Episcopal Church in New Brunswick, N. J. George has been visiting with his father, JAKE HUDDLESTON, and all the other members of his big and interesting family. He left Wednesday.

We're looking forward to getting a full and complete report on his travels to Europe from REV. EDWARD TARRANT assistant pastor of St. Edward's Church in Fulton. Father Tarrant returned on Monday from a six weeks' tour of the continent. We understand that he may have pictures too of such places as Lourdes and other historic points of interest and we hope that he schedules a talk real soon.

Mrs. Tucker Brown and daughters, Katie and Brenda, are vacationing in Florida.

Joe Weeks, steno-typist at the News office, has returned to work after being on vacation last week. While off from work he attended some ball games in St. Louis, white carnations. Miss Patsy Gossum presided at the register.

Following the wedding, a reception was held. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and held the three-tiered wedding cake that was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Opposite the cake was a cutglass punch bowl. The table centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and white rosebuds in a cutglass bowl wreathed with greenery.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Frank Maybee, Mrs. Palos Tucker and Mrs. Ernest Weeks.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Reynolds of Earlington; Mrs. Frank Maybee of Detroit; Miss Patsy Gossum of St. Charles, Mo.; Miss Margaret McGhee of Brooklyn, Ill.; and Mrs. Ernest Weeks of Mayfield.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left for Florida where they will make their home.

Vaughan Explains '59 Conservation Reserve

Farmers in Obion County who want to scale down their farming operations have an opportunity to do so by putting part or all of their cropland in the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank, Chairman Vaughn of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee explained today.

The chairman pointed out that by taking advantage of the program, farmers could: (1) reduce costs for equipment, seed, fertilizer, insecticides, or other cash outlays necessary in farming operation; (2) reduce the need for extra labor and (3) reduce the hazards of uncertain markets and prices for farm commodities.

When cropland is put in the Conservation Reserve, it is taken out of production and put to conservation uses, Mr. Vaughn said. Cost-share payments are made to farmers to help with the establishment of the conservation practices and annual per-acre rental payments are made on the land for the duration of the contract. This is assured income from the land for the life of the contract regardless of weather, crop diseases, insect pests, variations in market prices or other farming hazards.

Something Good

Wouldn't this old world be better. If the folks we meet would say, I know something good about you, and then treat us just that way. Wouldn't it be fine and dandy. If each hand clasp warm and true, carried with it this assurance, I know something good about you.

Wouldn't things here be more pleasant. If the good that's in us all. Were the only thing about us, That folks bothered to recall, wouldn't life be told more happy. If we'd praise the good we see, For there's such a lot of goodness, In the worst of you and me, Wouldn't it be nice to practice, this fine way of thinking too, You know something good about me.

I know something good about you.

Lucky Jenkins' Luck Runs Out

A former Martin "newman," who made many local people his dupes, was himself the recipient of some news this week. The news heard by Edward Cyrus Jenkins was "seven and a half years in prison". The sentence was handed down by Judge Marion Boyd in Federal Court at Memphis.

Thus ended a bizarre tale of impersonation by the glib-tongued Jenkins who first appeared in Martin last March with tales of his "experiences" as foreign correspondent for a national news agency. Jenkins, as reported in previous issues of the Press, spoke "candidly" concerning his experiences during the Hungarian uprising, in more than one of which he was cast in a heroic role. He also had more personal dealings with the people of the community, speaking at civic meetings, frequenting the college library, and finally "purchasing" a late-model convertible.

Some time later Jenkins disappeared, as did the car. He was apprehended in Michigan July 10, with Federal authorities and Michigan police making the arrest. He was charged with fraudulent issue of a check in excess of $7200.

The 34-year-old Jenkins will have ample opportunity during the next seven years to think up his next "whopper."

Larry A. Thompson of Des Moines, Iowa was slightly injured, when his automobile was badly damaged in an accident Saturday afternoon shortly before 5 on the Union City Highway west of Fulton near the home of Mrs. Ann Whitnel.

Mr. Thompson was carried to Hillview Hospital in a Whitnel ambulance. He was treated for minor injuries and dismissed.

Mr. Thompson was forced off the highway by a carload of Illinois Negroes. His automobile turned over in a ditch and struck a telephone pole, breaking it half.

The Negro car was stopped by another motorist who witnessed the accident and the driver of the car was arrested by the Tennessee State Police.

Jury Fines Man On Speeding Charge

A Police Court jury at Mayfield Thursday fined John T. Rohrer, Water Valley, $10 and costs after adjudging him guilty on a speeding charge. Rohrer was cited August 25 after crossing the speedometer line near Dunbar School.

Rohrer questioned the validity of the speedometer and requested a jury trial. However, after testimony by the officers who were operating the machine, the jury returned a verdict against the defendant.

More than 10 people have been caught speeding since the installation of the speedometer, a device which electrically times the speed of oncoming cars. Mayfield City Attorney, Bill Parham, said Thursday that the device has been used mostly in school zones in order to cut down fast traffic before school starts.

DEATHS

Minnie Fuller
Miss Minnie Fuller, 72, died Saturday night, August 30, about 10 o'clock, in Dickson, Tennessee, where she had been living for the past year. Miss Fuller formerly a resident of the Liberty Community. The body was returned to Fulton Tuesday morning by Hornbeak ambulance.

She was born in Graves County, Kentucky, October 2, 1885, the daughter of D. A. Fuller and Louisa Cash Fuller. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Little Obion Church in Graves County. Rev. George Presley of Dyer, Tennessee, officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery, under the direction of Hornbeak Funeral Home.

Miss Fuller is survived by one sister, Mrs. Nora Huss of Wingo, Ky., two brothers, W. B. Fuller of Cayce and Jim Fuller of Dickson, Tennessee, several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. George Burrow

Mrs. George Seay Burrow of Water Valley, Kentucky, widow of the late Emerson E. Burrow, died August 27 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Adrienne Rose of Duketown, Tenn. Mrs. Burrow, a devout Christian, was 86 years old, and had been in declining health since last December.

Funeral services were conducted at the Jackson Funeral Home in Duketown, with the Rev. Ralph Rowton of Paducah officiating. Interment was in the Fulton Cemetery.

As a young girl, Mrs. Burrow attended both Marvin College in Clinton, Ky. and Huntingdon College at Huntingdon, Tenn. She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Seay of Clinton and Water Valley, and a niece of the late John Seay and Sam Seay of Hickman County.

Ad Calls Attention To New Hospital Plan

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue of the paper gives detailed information concerning a hospital and surgical protection plan; also, doctor bill and income protection plan which will soon be available to residents of the community.

The Continental Casualty Co., with home offices in Chicago, Ill., and an office at Paducah, Ky., is a legal Reserve Life Insurance Co., and this county has been one of the counties selected to participate in the program.

The Continental Plan of protection has been endorsed for its liberal coverage, according to representatives of the company. These representatives said residents will be interviewed by an authorized staff representative who will carry proper credentials from an officer of the company. The protection offered by the Continental Casualty Plan will be available to both individuals and families who are eligible.

Authorities have pointed out that the most effective means of combating socialized medicine is for an ever increasing number of families to protect themselves by participating in a voluntary hospital and surgical plan.

The need for protection against heavy hospital and doctor bills appear to be increasing, according to latest available figures. It is believed that nearly 10 per cent of the entire population of this county will require hospitalization this year. That means that, on the average, a member of every second family can be expected to enter a hospital during the year.

zens. Brother, that letter was a hot one. It accused the tour members of having nothing to do but snoop around in people's back yards, front yards and businesses and act like the Gestapo. It eastigated the members for being un-

Democratic, for keeping people from living the way they wanted to and a lot of other ridiculous statements. I mean that letter really TOLD OFF the committee members . . . but there was just one thing missing . . . the spineless character didn't have the courage to sign his or her name to the letter.

We all got a good laugh out of the thing, but truly there's a sad note to the affair as well. How much more effective the letter would have been had the committee known the calibre of the person writing that letter. The person might have been instrumental in doing some good had those efforts been channeled in the right direction and moreover had the name been made public.

The morale of this story is if you gotta do some griping, why not let everybody know how you feel . . . must get awfully close inside to keep all those world-shaking ideas to yourself . . . get 'em off your chest . . . lay 'em in the lap of the newspaper with a letter to the editor.
